UNFAILING

EYE PRESERVERS!

The large and increasing Sales of our celebrated

Perfected Spectacles

AND

EYE GLASSES,

In Massillon and vicinity by our Agent,

Louis Schaufele, Jeweler,

Is a sure proof of their great superiority over the ordinary glasses. We were satisfied that the reality of the advantages secured by their use, viz:

The Brilliancy of Sight!

The perfect ease & comfort,

And the readily ascertained improvement of the eyes, continuous and abiding as it invariably is, would be sufficient to insure their almost general adoption by the residents of this locality. And the result has proved we were right—as an assistant to and Preservers of the Sight.

To extreme old age they are unapproachable, and are really cheapest, because lasting so many years without change being necessary.

Mr. Louis Schaufele, Jeweler, is the sole and only agent in this locality, and has always on hand a full assortment of

Gold, Silver, Steel, and Shell Frames,

Suitable for every difficulty of the sight.

CAUTION!—We wish it distinctly understood that we do not Supply or Employ Peddlers, here or elsewhere. Beware of their false representations to the contrary.

NOTICE—The Undersigned, under the firm name of PETER GRIBBLE, will continue the Livery Business formerly carried on by H. Gribble & Son, at the old and well known stand on Mill st. Thankful for the large patronage bestowed on the late firm, I would respectfully request a continuance of the same. 315 PETER GRIBBLE.

GRANT & PROSPERITY.

Business revives under the new regime. Other than general causes have, however, given a tremendous impetus to the sale of

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

The chimists have come out in two leading scientific journals against the lead and sulphur poisons for the head (or that is their proper designation), with which the country is infested. While Dr Chilton, the first analatical chemists in America announces to the world that and that he knows it to be so, because he has analyzed it. Cristadore's Hair Preservative, as a dressing, acts like a charm on the hair after dyeing. Try it. 315-1m

J M KIMBALL, Gen. Ticket Agent.

Read the following from the Commercial Editor of the Buffalo Express.

Buffalo, Sept. 2, 1868.

DR. SAGE & Co.,

Gents—I am always reluctant to say any thing in favor of patent medicines, but I have found your Catarrh Remedy such an effectual soother in those annoying attacks which we term colds in the head, that I take pleasure in testifying to its merits. Two or three applications have always removed the disagreeable symptoms, dried the weeping eyes and quenched the Bardolphian flames of the nose. If it possessed no other virtue its worth would be beyond price as a simple and effective antidote for the horrors of a cold in the head,

Yours truly,

GEORGE A MARTIN.

Ask your druggist what the universal opinion is, from those who have used the medicine, of Whittlesey's Dyspepsia cure, for indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, &c.

Almost every day we hear many persons complaining of headache, loss of appetite, and that they are not fit to do anything, &c. Many is the day that we have felt so ourselves, and in fact have gone to bed and imagined ourselves sick, but for the life of us could not tell what was the matter. One day while thus complaining, a friend said to us. Why do you not try Plantation Bitters? they are really a good thing and will make you feel like a new man. Upon his recommendation we purchased a bottle, and took them according to the directions. They seemed to go right to the spot, and gave us immediate relief. Ever since then we have taken every opportunity to recommend them.

The Illustrated Annual of Phrenology and Physiognomy for 1870 is now ready, and contains 50 engravings of leading editors—Bryant, Greeley, Bennett, Brooks, Marble, Dr. Raymond, with portraits. The Male and Female form; Why children resemble their parents; Gen Grant and his cabinet, with portraits; Physiognomy in politics, or Faces and Places; Science of conjugal selection; Happy marriages; Temperament in Wedlock; American Artists; The Sleep Walker; Brain Waves; Psychological; Sir Edward Landseer, Lorenzo Dow and Peggy his wife; Royal Ladies of the French Empire, with portraits; Guizot, the statesman; How to choose a helpmate; What is man? and much more in this rich and racy Annual, which sells for 25 cents. S R Wells, Publisher, N Y.

Ballou, for September has been out for a week or two. It is as varied and interesting as ever, and the older this magazine becomes the better it grows. Elliott, Thomas & Co, Boston.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY.—The enterprising publisher of this popular Magazine is the first in the field in announcing, among he inducements to subscribers for the coming year, the finest premium ever yet offered for a single subscription to any magazine in this or other country. It consists of a copy, retailed at ten dollars, of Mrs Lilly M Spencer's great picture of a Picnic on the Fourth of July, the engraving of which artists were sent for, specially from Europe to complete.

Demorest's Monthly is in itself by far the smost complete and attractive Magazine for ladies published in this country, and requires little extra inducement to persuade them to become subscribers. It is really a saving of money, however to pay three dollars, and get in addition so valuable a premium—and Mr Demorest will undoutedly find his list doubled on the strength of it. Published at 838 Broadway, N Y.

The Lady's Friend for September contains a handsome steel engraving of Portia, the heroine of the Merchant of Venice. Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut st. Philadelphia, at $2,50 a year, which also includes a large steel engraving. Four copies $6. Five copies and one gratis $8. The Lady's Friend and the Saturday Evening Post and one engraving $4. Specimen numbers sent free.

The Phrenological Journal for September contains the portraits and biographies of John Rogers, the designer and modeler of the well known Rogers Groups; Jos A Wright, ex-governor of Indiana, and late minister to Prussia; Von Baer, the Russian Naturalist; Vinnie Ream, the Washington sculptress; besides interesting articles illustrated and otherwise, on heads large and small; Personal Beauty; St Mark's Cathedral at Venice; Apoplexy, or the philosophy of Sudden Death; the Rhinoceros; Controversy, its uses and abuses; Life Saving Apparatus; True Relation of the sexes; A Visit to a Cloister, or the Ape Men; Presentments, etc. Price 30 cents, or $3 a year. S R Wells, Publisher 389 Broadway, N Y.

As our schools are now soon to resume it will be well to commend them to the attention of those of proper age for instruction. The following rhymes will be read by our juniors, as they approve the subject of education in terms of earnestness, whether the ideas are clothed or not in the most finished style of poetery:

Come to School.

Of all the aspirations that pervade the youthful breast,
The desire for education is the greatest, noblest, best;
A boy devoid of learning, will never make a man,
And when a penny earning, all will cheat him if they can.
Then, come, girls, come boys, come along to school,
You'll find it real pleasant, if you follow every rule;
Our school house is large enough, come without delay,
For you surely will regret it if you trifle youth away.

There are many studies which we all ought to pursue,
They may not suit our minds at first, but we must read them through;
There are Grammar and Philosophy—Geography and others,
Arithmetic and Algebra—the two last named are bothers.
And many more too numerous (not too tedious) to mention,
Which ought to claim, in early youth, our closest attention.
Our school room is large enough, come, leave your play,
For they surely will regret it who throw their youth away.

Oh, who would not be willing, to try with main and might,
To acquire an education, which will all our pains requite.
If this great charm is wanting, there is nothing in its stead
Can fill the vacancy of any shallow head.
So, come and gain the treasure, more precious far than gold,
Its many advantages can never half be told.
Our school room is large enough, come without delay,
For you always will regret it, if you trifle youth away.

Can any be contented, in this enlightened age,
To grow to man's maturer years, and never read a page?
If any such there be, I would really like to know it,
I've a large share of pity, and on them I will bestow it;
But you and I, dear boys and girls, will take another course,
For we know that education, is of every joy, the source.
Our school room is large enough, come without delay,
For you always will regret it, if you throw your youth away.

YOUNG AMERICA.—This excellent little periodical is constantly adding to its reputation, and is certainly the most sensible, practical, and best edited, of the juvenile magazines. We consider it the best investment of $1,50 that any parent can make. Published at 838 Broadway, Y Y.

Everett and Choate.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal, who had a conversation with the late Edward Everett, of Massachusetts, while on a journey from Buffalo to Cleveland, says:

He gave me an interessing page from his history, connected with his addresses. He said that from the earliest start he had been accustomed to commit to memory his speeches. In writing an address he wrote a page and then committed it. If he was about to visit a place where there was the least probability of his making a speech, he would search for some historic event or matter of local interest, write and commit. If he was called to speak unawares, he put his thoughts down immediately after his return home, and wrote out such a speech as he would have delivered. When he was settled in Brattlestreet church he was a mere stripling.

He resolved to read nothing, but to prepare his sermons with great care and commit them. Some of the elder members of his flock were made nervous by his temerity. Seeing a mere lad stand up in the pulpit without a scrap of paper before him, filled them with alarm lest he should break down, and thus destroy all their enjoyment. Mr Everett was requested to take notes with him in the pulpit. Wishing to accommodate his friends, and resolute in his purpose not to read his sermons, he compromised the matter. He took into the pulpit a sermon he was not preaching, and occasionally turning over the leaves, quieted the nerves of his anxious friends. Under this constant and severe discipline his memory became as tenacious, as supple, and obedient as the fingers of a skillful organist. The reading of a sermon or lecture twice enabled him to commit it perfectly. He regarded the time when he gave his celebrated Phi Beta oration in the presence of Lafayette, as that when he stood on the summit of success as an orator.

The strength of Mr Choate's memory was one of the most remarkable things about this remarkable man. He not only read everything, but he remembered everything he read. He knew where the book was in which the desired information could be found, the very page, and the precise location of the book in the library where it happened to be. While trying the celebrated sewing machine case before judge Woodbury, I heard him request a friend to go to the Athenæum and get him a volume of a set published by Chambers. The article he wanted was on the manufacture of silk. He described the set, the room in which it was kept, and the very spot in the library where it could be found. He wrote down nearly everything in the case that he could. The act of writing fastened the thing in his memory and it was ready for instant use.

In the trial of a cause he kept two sets of notes—one the testimony, the other a digest and the argument. He was ready to argue the case the moment the testimony closed. His memory enabled him to talk on any subject introduced. He was at home of the black letter law, knew familiarly the intricate English law of entail, and could discuss the laws of any nation as intelligibly as he could a common assault and battery. I walked with him from the court house on Saturday previous to the delivery of his celebrated eulogy on Webster, before Dartmouth College. He had been all the week before the United States court conducting an intricate trial, the heat like that of a tropical climate. We went into the barber's shop under the Bromfield house, for he said: 'I must be shampooed daily, or I should die.' The eulogy on Webster, I think, was to be delivered on Tuesday.

This was Saturday, and the intervening Monday was to be consumed in the journey to Hanover. I said to him: 'Of course, your eulogy on Webster is completed.' He drew himself up to his full height, and laying his hand gently on my shoulder, he said: Mr ——, as I live not a word of that eulogy is written.' Yet it was delivered as announced—delivered without notes, fully written out and committed in the writing. I knew one instance in which he completed his lecture at the office a short time before the train started that was to carry him to his appointment. He left the manuscript on his desk, and gave the lecture, he said, as near verbatim as he desired to, and that without a scrap before him. He was very careful of the wording of his motions before the higher courts. His phraseology was always peculiar. Having written his motion on a scrap of paper, he usually crumpled it in his hand and threw it on the floor as he arose to address the Bench. I have frequently picked up these jottings, and some of them I have to this day.

The Sandusky Register makes a fine point on the dispatch of Gen Rosecrans, declining the democratic nomination. It startles the democracy by telling them that Rosecrans announced himself a republican, inasmuch as he was compelled to decline because he could not repudiate his debts. As the democracy are for repudiation, and Rosecrans for paying honest debts, it is clear that he is a republican.

A Word for Employes.

It is surprising how apt certain employers are to make a dull boy of the Jack who serves them by giving him all work and no play. They sometimes may rest their horses for economy's sake, but their clerks and apprentices must toil on to the toilsome end without a holiday—unless nature takes the case in hand, and, laying Jack flat on his back bid him make sport of fever as best he may, since nought else can win him the ticket of leave from factory or shop.

Every employee, in whatever business he may be engaged, should be granted some respite from work during the hot season—not as Scrooge would grant it, with a grunt and a scowl, and suspension of wages, but cheerfully, heartily, and with a glowing "Go, and enjoy yourself," that sends him off half-rested at the outset.

Not only in the large cities, but in the country towns, in villages, even at the store on the cross roads, where rural sounds come sweetly in at the open door, the clerk needs change and rest during the summer, and he should have it. It is no excuse for an employer to say, 'I work all the year through, and ask those who serve me only to do the same.' Because he has chosen an incessant way of earning his bread, it is no reason why he should entail the dry bones of his mistake upon others; no reason why he should say to Jack: "I never stop wanting fruit, so do you never stop shaking the tree for me." No. A hearty, thoughtful employer secures hearty, thoughtful service. Only a conscientious master may expect to have a conscientious man. Every time a discret task gives wins a grrteful 'thank you, sir!' from his clerk or workman, he places a lever under that man's powers ready to raise them to a higher and better service.

Contrast the two employees, George W Childs, of Philadelphia, and the London manufacturer, Adams! The one at an expense of thousands of dollars, giving his army of hands a grand sinless frolic on the Fourth, bringing them under the happy influence of pure air, fine scenery, music, generous entertainment, and social intercourse. The other, if accounts are to be relied on, selfishly and cruelly turned out a workman to starvation and despair, after years of faithful service, at the first intimation that the poor fellow's consumptive condition would soon unfit him for labor! Which of the two men sleep the most restfully—he who breathes an atmosphere of blessings from those whom he has cheered and benefitted, or he in whose ears must ever ring the curse of the poor crazed murderer and suicide, Duggan: 'May the horror of this night be visited upon the man who forced it.'

These are extreme instances. Few employers, however enlightened and warm hearted, find themselves able to carry out the magnificent schemes of kindness after the manner of Mr Childs; and not all selfish, hardened men—thank God! can act the cruel part of Mr Adams. Yet there are gradations of Christian courtesy and of grinding tyranny—ladders by which every employer may go up or down, climbing heavenward or descending toward the depths. The latter sort are crowded with those who dedicate their mastership solely to Mammon. It is on the ascending rounds we find the men who are the most eager to plan vacations, or at least occasional holidays, for all in their employ.—Hearth and Home.

A SPLENDID ORNAMENT TO BROAD WAY.—It must be pleasant for that venerable individual, the oldest inhabitant, to run back in recollection to the days when our now palace-beautified Broadway was in a much more crude condition than it is in these days of progressive utility. Such improvements have taken place within the past few years in the appearance of our favorite thoroughfare, that it seems as if some arch enchantress had produced the change by one motion of her magic wand.

All along that great avenue, from Bowling Green to Union Square, are to be seen some of the most beautiful structures that ever sprung from the trail of art and architecture. And imposing as they are externally, they are equally so within. Some of them are fitted up in a style which would draw tears of ecstacy and admiration from the eyes of the most extravagant Parisian, whose life is devoted to the study of luxury and magnificence generally.

Recently another improvement has been ushered into existence on Broadway. We refer to the splendid new Temple of Pharmacy (the doors of which were for the first time opened to the public but a few days ago) of Mr. H. T. Helmbold, at No. 594 Broadway, and adjoining the Metropolitan Hotel. Ever since its opening day it has been favored with full houses (to use the language of the dramatic critics,) its unique splendor daily and nightly attracting large crowds of admirers.

The entire building is 28 feet front, 235 deep, and 5 stories in height. The street floor has been most tastefully fitted up, the front half being used as a retail department, and the rear portion for wholesale business and as a laboratory for the manufacture of his celebrated Fluid Extract Buchu, Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla, &c. There is propably no drug store in the world more beautifully and luxuriously furnished than this new acquisition to our Broadway attractions.

Connected with this establishment is a reception room, which is intended for the comfort of those obliged to wait while the prescriptions they desire to purchase are being prepared. This is something which has been a desideratum, and which Mr. Helmbold has supplied. The room is furnished with costly lounges, sofas and velvet carpet. Taking this new establishment altogether, it deserves to rank as one of the magnificences of the city.—N Y Com. Advertiser, Oct. 31.

Lieut. Governor

JOHN C. LEE,

Will be at Massillon on Tuesday, Sept. 28th.

Further particulars will be announced hereafter. We shall endeavor to gather as large a concourse of people as possible at the appointed time.

Lieut. governor Lee, is to be at Wooster on the 27th inst., as we notice by the list of appointments for republican speakers. We hope efforts will be made to secure his presence here, as he has not yet been to Massillon. Mr. Bingham was to speak last evening at Alliance, and if he did so it will be followed by good results. As the campaign has been fairly opened a pretty full quota of able speakers, as is indicated by their appointments, are now addressing the people of Ohio in favor of republican principles.

In this matter the democracy are very much demoralized, at least in this region, for none of the prophets and high priests of that party have yet raised their voices in behalf of repudiation and slavery. One of the party, however, from Cincinnati, took to crowing the other day, while standing on a door step, because he was so pleased at the withdrawal of Gen Rosecrans. He became so noisy that the authorities arrested him and fined him ten dollars. it was hard treatment for a democratic orator—they should let him crow.

THE P. R.—In the neighborhood of the coal mines, a short distance northwest of this, they have sundry enterprising chaps, and among other amusements some of them practically cultivate the "manly art of self-defence." Which means, when put to every day use, blacking each others' eyes, breaking of ribs, knocking out teeth, bleeding of noses, and sundry other accomplishments inseparable from the lively doings of the P. R. Within a few days, we are credibly informed, that several regular mills have come off, where betting on champions from ten to probably fifty dollars a side was the order of the day. If we had a first class reporter this paper might be made a first class sensation medium, by detailing in full, with all the classic technicalities of the ring the bunged peepers—first blood—come to the scratch handsomely—a dog with the left flipper, and so on till the throwing up of the sponge. It would be such elevated, enlightening literature that we might brag on it as being a little ahead of even first class. But we lack the Bohemian, and all there pugilistic feats must go into obscurity, unless treasured up by some enterprising, first class reporter, and made immortal by coming before the world in the New York Clipper, the Police Gazette of the same town, or some other equally enlightening gatherer of fights and similar entertainments. But leaving out the visionary and speculative part of these disgraceful performances, the pertinent question may be asked, Whose business is it to put a stop to such doings? In some places we read that sheriffs and other executive officers arrest these beastly exhibitions, either by taking up the parties, frightening them from their purpose, or visiting them with severe punishment for violating the laws of humanity and civilization. Perhaps our officers are not aware of the facts which are here alluded to to and if not is it not the duty of all good citizens to post them up, so that they may take proper measures to arrest such brutal conduct? The honor of Stark county should be protected from the continuance of these discreditable doings.

One of our patrons sent to this office a few lines the other day, the purport of which was, that the citizens of Canton are making liberal offers to Russell & Co., if they will establish a branch of their manufactures at that place. We thought it better to wait and see further before giving publicity to the statement, lest it might create wrong impressions. Since then it is reported that a like statement has appeared in the Cincinnati Comaercial. If these things are so what are our citizens going to do about it? We all wish to see Massillon prosper, not at the expense of Canton or any other place, but because the place should do so for its advantage. If our Canton neighbors have become so enterprising and liberal as to offer to raise $75,000 for this sort of a project, it should stimulate to action our moneyed men; and as an offset to this reported Canton proposition our people should be equally liberal to the Russell firm, whose enterprise has done more to aid Massillon than any other single establishment connected with our city. We are sure that this well known firm are not askfavors, but if others are thus trying to tempt them to divide their interests, the project should be promptly met with an equal spirit of liberality at home.

MR. INGERSOLL, of Cleveland, who was nominated by the political temperance friends at Mansfield, some weeks ago, has declined running for the office of governor of Ohio. Among his reasons for adopting this course he claims that the fifteenth amendment is yet a pending question, and as he has always been a zealous antislavery man, is desirous of seeing that question beyond contingency of controversy. His motive is certainly a good one, but if he had announced this intention sooner it would have been as well. He seems to be satisfied with governor Hayes' position on the temperance question. Another nominee will be put in his place, for temperance reformers will not be baffled thus at the beginning of political action. We can remember when political antislavery men were embarassed in the same way—declining of candidates, but this did not stop their work, nor will it have that effect on the temperance question. Rev. I. N. Baird, who was nominated in the same cause for representative of Columbiana county has also resigned.

Our northern railroad is finished to some distance this side of Fulton, and work is steadily progressing in this direction. Workmen are now ballasting the finished portion, thus completing the job, and rendering it what it should be, a first class road.

MR TAYLOR, the gentleman who has purchased the Alliance Monitor, takes possession on the first of September. The Monitor appeared last week enssmalled a column on each page.

It should not be forgotten that the county fair takes place at Canton some time during the month of September—of which fuller notice will appear hereafter.

Some of our West Massillon friends complain that there are strange carryings on at one or two certain places in their neighborhood—that a few young men (some of them very young) are poking round, peeping into people's windows long after midnight. That has been found an unsafe business in some places.

Don Piatt, in a speech before the colored educational convention the other day, at Louisville, said:

This is probably the only opportunity I shall have to address you, for the fifteenth amendment will soon be the constitutionality of the land, and I will soon find myself crowded off the stump by the democratic orators who will address you from every cross-road as our 'colored fellow citizens,' precisely as they now address the Irish as 'our Irish fellow citizen,' and the Germans as 'our German fellow citizens.'

The Massachusetts state constables are attempting to force the new prohibitory liquor law throughout the state. Trouble is still feared in some of the larger places. The penalties under the law are heavy. For a single sale a fine of $10, and from twenty to thirty days' imprisonment. For the second violation a fine of $20 and from thirty to sixty days' imprisonment, and for any subsequent violation $50 fine and 20 days imprisonment. The seller is also liable for any damage done by the buyer and drinker while drunk, and any person arrested for drunkenness can escape prosecution by appearing as a witness against the man from whom he purchased the liquor. These are only a few of the more important provisions.—Temple Visitor.

The works for cutting through Mt Cenis are advancing so rapidly, as is shown by the monthly accounts of the progress accomplished, that the tunnel will be completed in 1870, and may be open for traffic at the beginning of 1871, when the retaining walls shall have been terminated. The Italian ministry of public works, having no doubt of that event, has conceded the construction of a line between Susa and the opening of the gallery at Bardonneche, at the same time imposing the condition that this railway shall be ready at the required moment.

About nine miles below Belton, Ky., on the Tennesee river, in the neighborhood of a Mr. Coalson, a widow lady, driven from her house, which was swept away by the high water, took refuge in a tree, with all her little ones. As the flood brought along fence rails and drift wood she caught them and constructed a sort raft around the tree, so that when one of her children slept and fell it was caught by the platform below. Here the heroic mother with all her precious treasures remained for twenty-four hours, until Mr. Coalson constructed a boat and took all safely to shore.

James Parton has written a readable article on "The strikers of the Washington lobby." After detailing how these strikers operate on those officials who are seeking for additional pay for their services, and how a fraudulent whisky distiller was swindled out of $5,000 by the same class, he gives a short chapter on the celebrated Lecompton bill. When Mr. Buchanan was president, this Lecompton bill was his greatest difficulty. Every effort was made to buy up congressmen that the Kansas question might be settled to suit the views of the south. Cornelius Wendell was then public printer, and he was noted as King of the Lobby. Wendell was making large sums of money out of the government, and he knew that it would be to his interest that the democratic party should maintain its power. It happened that during the pendency of the bill in Congress, two young men from Ohio were in Washington, and the great question that was then agitating the wise heads in the capitol was brought under discussion. One of the young men jokingly said to the other that he would take the contract for putting that measure through congress for $10,000. His friend, being an ardent supporter of the administration, reported to Wendell what the young man had said, and the result was that Wendell requested an interview with him. The young man protested to Wendell that his remark to his room-mate was nothing but a joke, that he had no power over votes, and that he was not acquainted with any but Ohio members, not one of whom would he dare approach with money. To which Wendell replied: "You damned little fool you might as well make money out of this as any body else." The result of the interview was that the young man accepted a check for $5,000. He knew that he could do nothing with the bill, so he sent the money home to Ohio and paid off old debts with it. Wendell lost his $5,000, and the administration lost the Lecompton measure. This is but a specimen of how the "rings" and "strikers" work to get a corrupt measure passed through congress.

The fighting characters among the miners had a regular mill on Monday at $50 a side, and have appointed another, of $100 size to transpire soon.

RECEIVED, per hands of James H Hunt, of the Security Life Insurance and Annuity Co., of New York Two Thousand dollars for the Insurance on the life of The A Ricks I take great pleasure in bearing testimony to the promptness with which the Security pays her losses.

WM F RICKS, Administrator.

Though this company has demonstrated time and again the value of life insurance by distributing among the widows and orphans of

175 Members the sum of $500,000.

Yet its losses in proportion to the number insured, and amount of insurance, has been remarkably few and light, according to a compilation from the last published report of the Massachusetts Insurance Commissioner, showing the ratio of claims by death to policies issued during the last twelve months, in the leading life insurance companies, thus:

Name of Company.	Ratio	Persons Insured.
Massachusetts Mutual	21 one death in every	476
New England Mutual	20 do do do	560
Etna	32 do do do	313
Connecticut Mutual	30 do do do	333
Equitable	30 do do do	333
Germina	41 do do do	244
Globe Mutual	28 do do do	357
Knickerbocker	42 do do do	238
Mutual Life	14 do do do	714
Mutual Benefit	32 do do do	313
New York Life	52 do do do	192
North American	29 do do do	345
Security	09 do do do	1111
American Popular	06 do do do	1667
Total ratio	29 do do do	345

The old companies are ever harping upon the ratio of their expenses and in proportion to business done; whereas, to every person seeking insurance the fact that the profit and loss account is very important, taken together

The cost of insurance depends upon the vitality of the company in which you insure.

And the best proof of inherent vitality is the low ratio of claims in the past. Those wishing to procure valuable life insurance can do so by calling on JAMES H HUNT, Esq., at Exchange Bank.

PENOYER'S

Great Brazilian Remedy for

PILES.

The Latest Medical Discovery of the Age.

A Medicine that is Warranted to Cure,

And has no rival aside from surgical interferences, and then it proclaims itself the victor. This medicine has been thoroughly tested during the past three years, to satisfy all familiar with its merits, that it is not only a palliative, but that it actually removes the disease itself. The

Eureka Pile Remedy

OR BRAZILIAN OIL

is not only used locally (as principally all remedies, heretofore have been) but is also administered internally, which is the only rational theory, as the primary object in the cure of any disease, is first to remove the pain and then remove the cause. This is more readily accomplished by regulating the liver and kidneys, and imparting health and vigor to the mucous membrane of the whole alimentary canal. Beside the medicine is specific in its action, completely controling the circulation of the blood in the hemorrhoidal vessels. We warrant our compound to be purely vegetable. Simple and harmless in its action, as the most delicate tolerate it well. It corrects deranged nutrition or deficient circulation of the blood. In short, it makes the palid cheek bloom like the rose by imparting health and vigor to the whole system.

Read what your neighbors say of it

Massillon, O. July 13th, 1869.

To Suffering Humanity—Persons who are suffering with the piles I would cheerfully recommend to use Mr J Penoyer's Eureka Pile Remedy, I have been afflicted with piles for 25 or 30 years, as many persons in Philadelphia where I resided for years are aware, until the facts, underging the most painful feelings, trying several remedies recommended by physicians, but all to no purpose I gave up trying remedies, but was induced by a friend of Mr Penoyer's to try his medicine. I accepted a bottle and it gave me immediate relief, and I am satisfied it will make a permanent cure, I consider the Eureka Pile Remedy the best in use.

H W Anderson & Co.—Dear Sirs—My little son Harry, had been afflicted with Prolapsus Ani for several weeks, we had used other remedies, but with little success, he being worse when we commenced the use of your remedies than at any previous date; a few doses of your medicine relieved him in a few hours, and in less than four days he was perfectly well and has remained so. The Eureka Pile Remedy cured him.

Massillon, O. July 8, 1867

H W Anderson & Co.—This is to certify that I have been suffering for five years with piles, rendering life a burden, suffering more than I can describe. I had no confidence, but to gratify a friend, I procured some of Penoyer's Eureka Pile Remedy and I can cheerfully recommend it, as it has entirely cured me. I am as well as ever in my life.

D C A MERRELL.

Massillon, O. June 29, 1869.

H W Anderson & Co.—This is to certify that I have used one bottle of Penoyer's Eureka Pile Remedy and it has cured me. I have been afflicted for several years and had no relief from any other medicine. I can cheerfully recommend your medicines. The Eureka Pile Remedy is a certain cure.

L C GIBSON.

Canaan, O. July 16, 1869.

Messrs. H W Anderson & Co.—Gentlemen, I had been afflicted very much for some time with downward piles, I knew of no remedy that would reach my case, until advised by my physician to use Penoyer's Eureka Pile Remedy. I used one half bottle and am happy to say I am quite well.

Respectfully Yours,
S J BERKHOLDER.

Canaan, O. July 6, 1869.

Messrs. H W Anderson & Co.—Dear Sirs—Having been afflicted for upward of thirty years with piles I was induced to use Penoyers Eureka Pile Remedy, and from my own Experience and my knowledge of its effects on others, I can cheerfully recommend it to the public.

REV T H BARR.

Massillon, O. March 10 1869.

MR J PENOYER—Dear Sir:—I called on you last June and obtained some of your Pile remedy, of which I used one day and am entirely cured. I had been in a suffering condition for some time. I can recommend the medicine very highly to any one suffering in such condition. It is a sure cure.

Yours truly, T H STANSBURY.
Marble Cutter.

Massillon, O, Dec 14, 1868.

This certifies that I have been afflicted for quite a number of years with Piles, and have never before been able to affect a cure. I lately tried the use of Mr J Penoyer's Lozengers and have been greatly relieved by their use, and have every reason to believe that it is a very excellent medicine.

JOHN B WERT.

Massillon, O. Dec. 14, 1868.

Mr J Penoyer—Dear Sir:—I feel it a privilege to acknowledge the cure of piles of from nine to ten years standing. After trying all other remedies I could hear of, and finding no relief, I then used your medicine only forty-eight hours and can say I am entirely well—never felt better in my life—and cheerfully recommend the medicine to all afflicted with the Piles.

WESTLEY DONALDSON.

Alliance O. Nov. 16, 1868.

Mr Penoyer—Dear Sir:—I have for some time neglected to acknowledge the receipt of your medicine. I took it as directed, and from that date am happy to say, I am perfectly well!—not the least troubled, Yours truly

Z B JOHNSON. Union Livery.

Massillon, O December, 17th 1868.

Mr J Penoyer—Sir:—I have been troubled with Piles for the past ten years, and have at last found a permanent cure in the Great Brazilian Pile Remedy. Yours truly,

J H HARDGROVE,

Massillon, O, Nov. 27, 1868.

Mr Penoyer—Dear Sir—I deem it but just to acknowledge the benefit I have derived from the use of your pile remedy. I have suffered for over fifteen years, and have spent, I think, one thousand dollars, and have never before found permanent relief. I am happy to say I am well—entirely cured—and can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all afflicted with the piles.

J W TRUITT.

Massillon, O. Sept. 9, 1868.

Mr J Penoyer—Dear Sir—I consider it a privilege to acknowledge the cure of my wife from the use of your medicine. After using it one day she remained perfectly well. I can recommend it to all afflicted with piles.

J BEAN.

Hemetite, Jefferson Co, Mo.
January 1, 1869.

Mr J PENOYER—Dear Sir: I have used your Eureka Remedy, or Brazilian Oil, and find it a sure for piles. I have suffered with them for several years, and have tried numerous other remedies, but never had anything to relieve me so soon as your medicine has. I can truly say it cured me in less than twenty-four hours, and I have not been troubled with them since.

Yours, &c, SAMUEL ALLERTON.

Massillon, O. March 3, 1869.

Mr J PENOYER—Sir: I wish to say that one bottle of the Brazilian Pile Remedy has entirely cured my wife. She has been afflicted for years. We can safely recommend it to all afflicted as a sure cure.

Respectfully S. C. McDONALD.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—I hereby certify that I am personally acquainted with Messrs Samuel Allerton, of Hemetite, Jefferson Co., Mo., John Bean, Massillon, O., J. H. Hardgrove, James Truitt, T. H. Stansbury, John B. Wert and Westley Donaldson, also of Massillon and Z. B. Johnson, of Alliance, O., and take pleasure in certifying that they have been of good moral character, and full faith and credit are due and can safely be given to all the matters and things set forth in these several certificates in reference to the efficacy of the "Brazilian Remedy" for Hemorrhoids or Piles.

Witness my official signature and seal, the day and year above written.

We, the Druggists of Massillon, call the attention of our customers to the letters published below of the wonderful efficacy of Dr Roback's Stomach Bitters, Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier, and Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Pills. We have been selling these medicines long enough to know that they are all they are recommended to be, and that the certificates of cures published are true.

PLEASANT HILL, MINN., April 9, 1866.

DR. C. W. ROBACK,

Dear Sir:—Last fall my wife had the Liver Complaint so bad she was able to sit up but a few minutes at a time. I had a physician doctoring her for some time, but the medicine he gave her seemed to do her but little or no good. I was advised to get her a bottle of your Bitters, and let her try them, and see if they would help her. So I thought if one bottle would be good two would be better, and I got her two bottles, and when she had taken the last bottle she could do most of her house work. I got her one more which entirely cured her, and she looks the best I have seen her for four years. We recommended them to several of our neighbors who have used them with great success.

Brandreth's Pills.

Their peculiar adaptability to all constitutions as cleansers of the bowels and the blood are established their great merit. They restore the liver, the spleen and even the heart to healthy action when other remedies have been used without producing any benefit. Tired dyspeptics, those who use them to any danger, being as safe as sanitary.

Extract from letter to Dr. Brandreth, from C. J. Fay, Esq., P. M., Hammonton N. J.

"In 1858 I was in poor health, and my friend, as well as myself supposed that my earthly voyage would soon terminate. But after taking one box of Brandreth's Pills I began to feel better. Well, sir, when I had used up two boxes I was a healthy man—my weight having gone from 121 pounds up to 152 pounds. I then ordered a supply, and between that time and the present I have retailed three thousand dollars' worth of these invaluable pills, and am quite sure that I have thereby been instrumental in saving the health of life."

Yours, truly, C. J. FAY, P. M.

House and Lot for Sale,

SITUATED on Tremont street, west side of the River—House 24 by 30, contains six rooms—finished throughout, complete. Hall up and down stairs, a tight stone walled cellar, summer kitchen, out door bake oven, and large cistern with filter. Pig-pen, coal house and hen-coop—about fifteen fruit trees of various kinds, currant and gooseberry bushes are on the premises. The lot contains about one acre. I will sell said property on easy terms.

"RIVERSIDE" Lots For Sale.

That beautiful tract of land known as the

on the bluff west of Massillon, and on the western bank of the Tuscarawas river, together with the joining lands has just been divided up into town lots, which are recorded as the Riverside Addition to the town of Massillon.

The lots are of good size and will be sold at such easy terms of payment as to place a home within the reach of all. The beauty of the location is unsurpassed, and we believe it is a conceded fact that a location on the west bank of a running stream of water is always more healthy than one on the east bank.

It is apparent to all that the business and population of Massillon are very rapidly increasing; it is also apparent that public attention is directed to the west side of the river as the most desirable point for a home now in the market, or that probably ever will be in the market again. We think therefore that it is safe to predict that in a very few years this grand addition

RIVERSIDE,

Will be covered over with dwelling houses, which will be occupied by a large proportion of the busy citizens of the city of Massillon.

Every man who has a family or ever expects to have one ought to have a home in his own right, then he will be independent, if not rich. A better opportunity will never again be offered of securing one so desirable, so cheap and so easily paid for.

Also a very desirable out lot, of about eight acres, adjoining Massillon, on the Canton road, will divide well into three or four pasture lots. A few some be utiful lots in the east part of the city.

The plat may be examined, and lots selected at my store. [295] P. G. ALBRIGHT.

FARMERS' FESTIVAL.—Remember that this annual entertainment comes off next Saturday, and that ample provisions are making to render it an occasion which it is hoped all will enjoy, and recur to with pleasure in coming years. Invitation is extended to all, and no terms of admission are exacted but good behavior. The hundreds who were there last year have not yet forgotten the agreeable associations connected with that day—made so by the speeches, music, the social converse and other attractive features which all appreciated. The address expected of Mr Folger will, we are persuaded, be one of universal interest, as the theme of his discourse is one which he is peculiarly qualified to discuss and elucidate. Then we shall have music—good music, too, just such as our vocal and instrumental performers are competent to bring out. And in addition visitors from a distance will find the people of Tuscarawas a most hospital class who are liberal in entertaining guests.

REUNION OF THE 104th O V I.—The 2d reunion of the 104th O V I will be held at Akron on the 10th of September next. A cordial invitation has been extended to the members of the regiment by the citizens of that place. The place and time of meeting has been changed from Massillon to Akron from the fact that no suitable hall could be obtained at Massillon. The members of the regiment will please take notice of the change and meet in Akron on the 10th at 1 o'clock. The ordion will be delivered by Gen Reilley.

By Order of the Committee.

Let the members of Co's A and E meet Saturday, Sept 4th, at Madison Hall at 8 o'clock p m, to make arrangements to attend the reunion. By Order of A and G Co's.

THE MASSILLON UNION SCHOOLS will commence on Monday the 6th of September. They will be instructed by the following teachers:

Prof JOSEPH KIMBALL, superintendent.

Miss MARY ZERBE, assistant in high school.

Miss SARA HOXWORTH, principal of grammar department; Miss F RICHARDS and Miss SOUTHARD, assistants.

Misses SARAH BRANNON and M BUTLER, secondary department.

Misses R PARSONS and C RENNICK, primary.

Misses HATTIE HUMBERGER and LAURA BOWEN, little primary.

Mr JOHN SMITH, principal of West Massillon school, and a lady assistant.

The Phrenological Journal asks that its patrons take a vote on the question as to whether it shall be continued in its present quarto shape, or changed to octavo—make the pages smaller and increase their number. If we had a vote we should hold up both hands for lessening the size of the pages—it would be a decided improvement.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.—On last Monday ground was broken, in West Massillon, for the new school house. The probability is that the foundation will be laid the present season, and other work done that can be performed, so that the next or perhaps even this season the proposed new building can be put up, and possibly finished for occupancy. This indicates progress in terms that no one one will mistake. The schoolhouse means war against ignorance, intolerance, oppression, intemperance, and vice generally—these recruits are raised to increase the army of progress.

McFingal wrote some time ago, and when he did must have been inspired with the spirit of prophesy in regard to modern grosghops. When we see something in the shape of one of their subjects hanging, like the body of a murderer at the doors of these gates of hell, no words better describe them than these two men orable ines—

Hang out your sign with wondrous show,
Inscribed with Beelzebub & Co.

Old Satan is the chief of the firm in every one of these dens of death, and the dispensers of his brimstone broth, are but the tools and clerks of his establishments, where characters are lost, fortunes squandered, rebellion, treason and murder concocted, and every iniquity conceived that the debased ingenuity of the sordid grogseller can imagine, and from whence he sends missionaries to maim, burn, kill and destroy. These are living, every day facts, transpiring right among us, and no one can gainsay or deny their truthfulness. Mr. Doggery-keeper, you know these things are so.

An ordinance has been passed by the city council of Massillon which requires that cattle, swine and other stock be not permitted to range through the streets, and so far as we know, the people have lived up to it. Those having cows giving milk may have them on their premises during the night, but during the day they are expected to be kept out of the corporation, or confined on their owners premises. One night last week, without authority, several mischievous fellows went about town gathering up peaceable cows who were not disturbing anyone, and put them into the pound. In the morning owners were at a loss to know where their cows were, and during the day ascertained that some dozen or more were in the cattle lock-up, where they had to go and pay 75 cents or a dollar for each cow's nights lodging. It was a bad piece of business, and the perpetrators should be taught that such fun is not to be encouraged.

P. S. It is said these cows were penned up regularly—perhaps so, but would it not be well to be less hasty in such cases?

We have had it pretty hot here for the last few days, but in other places the mercury has been reported up to 100 or 105 degrees. Yet there are few cases of sunstroke noted in the papers.

The heat on last Friday was intense, the mercury reaching to 91°. It was followed on Saturday afternoon by a most welcome thunder shower. The rain was needed, as but little has fallen for the last few weeks.

Our Salem brethren, of the Republican and Journal, seem to be on the verge of a controversy about a piece of unpopular printing that was done by somebody and put up, during the night, at public places. Both parties plead not guilty, and we presume each tells the truth—and we advise them to look a little and not get into a snarl about the matter. There are more printers in the world beside them.

Mr Estep was able to be at his store a short time on last Friday, the first time since the accident which befell him some two months or more ago.

The Kelley Bros are about to improve the sidewalk in front of their store, by making it level, as the center has been worn down by constant use. The proprietors of the Opera House are soon to put down a substantial flag pavement, as they have received the material for that purpose.

According to the year book for 1869 and the almanac, to-day is one hour and 47 minutes shorter than the 21st of June, the longest day. The 21st of the coming month the days and nights are equal—and then ends the summer.

In constructing the roof of the new and beautiful German church on the corner of Mill and Tremont streets, it is said a plan was carried out which proved to be imperfect—and some of the members complain that an expense of at least a thousand dollars will have to be incurred to remedy the defect. The roof is sinking in the middle, and as a consequence the side walls are pushed out, so that it is imperatively necessary that something be done to preserve the beauty of the edifice. The work of repairing will be commenced in a short time. It is unfortunate that such an error was made, but the sooner it is remedied the better.

Mr Buckly, of Alabama has sent us a copy of a pamphlet embodying a few remarks upon the resources of that state, and the advantages possessed by it for immigrants. This is a hopeful sign of the times, for our southern neighbors are finding out that northern people—sometimes stigmatized as carpet-baggers—are a desirable element to have among them, in order to promote and encourage improvement.

Reynolds, Sisler & Co., manufacturers of Manchester Scythe Stones, near this place, are now filling a large number of orders for parties in different western states. A hundred thousand labels don't last them but a short time.

Mr Otis A Brown, of Knoxville, Tenn., son of I H Brown, of this place, has favored us with a copy of the Journal of proceedings of the state teachers association, in which is a history of its organization, and the addresses on various educational questions. Education is manifestly working its way in the south; and when properly applied it will do away with the spirit of rebellion, teach equal rights, and bring about a true republican feeling.

McDonald & Bruce had some fine looking Jersey sweet potatoes at their store last Saturday—the first here of the season. Also, fine apples, peaches and plums, &c.

W E London keeps a large supply of fruits of the season, which can be had in quantities to suit purchasers. Self-raising flour also for sale there.

Anybody who wishes to indulge in the luxury of a Sunday shave can do so by paying 20 cents. There are some in town who don't pay anything for shaving—and they find it very convenient.

Ordinance No. 145.

An Ordinance prescribing the duties of the city clerk of the city of Massillon.

Sec. 1. Be it ordained by the city of Massillon, that the city clerk, in addition to the duties he is at present required to perform as such clerk, according to the provisions of the act of the general assembly of the state of Ohio, entitled an act to provide for the organization and government of municipal corporations, shall do and perform all the duties required by law to be performed by the city auditor, and upon presentation to the city council or other branch of city government, of any claim or demand against the city of whatever name, kind or description the same shall be referred to the city clerk, who shall forthwith carefully audit the same and report to the city council. And no bill, claim or demand whatever against the city shall be allowed or paid by the city, until the same shall have been audited and officially certified by the city clerk to be due and owing from the city to the person or persons demanding the same.

Sec. 2 That the clerk shall provide at the cost of the city a suitable book or books and enter all claims, bills or demands against the city and referred to him to be audited, whether the same be by him allowed or disallowed, the name of the person or persons holding the same or claiming the amount thereof: the date or time when the same was by him received and audited, and if disallowed, the reasons therefor shall also be briefly entered upon the journal in like manner. He shall carefully keep and preserve all books, records, journals, papers and proceedings of the city council, and shall certify all manuscripts or copies that may be required of any record or paper in his office, and shall attest the same by his official seal, and shall be entitled to receive therefor the same fees as are allowed by law to other officers for similar services, and no book, record, journal or paper belonging to the said clerk's office or of which the city clerk is the proper custodian, shall be removed or taken from the office of said city clerk, except to use the same as evidence before the mayor of the city or some other judicial authority in said city, or elsewhere on a trial in which said city shall be party, or be interested, or for the use of the city council when in session; but all books, records, journals, papers and proceedings of the city council, or said clerk, or connected with that office, shall at all times be subject to the inspection and examination of all persons interested.

Sec. 3. That in case the city clerk shall negligently or knowingly permit any record, journal, book, or paper belonging to the city, and on which he is the proper custodian, to be taken from the clerk's office for any purpose except as provided in section two of this ordinance, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of Twenty-five dollars and cost of prosecution to be collected in an action before any court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. 4. That for discharging the duties of city auditor, the said city clerk shall be allowed and paid the same compensation as is allowed for his services as city clerk, and shall be paid quarterly in the same manner.

Sec. 5. That ordinance numbered one hundred and thirty-eight passed May 14th, 1868, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 6. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication as required by law.

Passed Aug 16, 1869.

C. F. GALTON'S

DYSPEPSIA REMEDY.

In offering this remedy to the public, we feel confident that every statement we make in regard to its curative properties will be fully verified by all who avail themselves of it. The prescription has been used in this city nearly ten years, and has never failed to effect a permanent cure whenever used in accordance with the directions, and the patient has had sufficient strength of mind to abstain from rich and indigestible food for a short time. In cases of Heartburn, Waterbrash, Constipation, and Nervous Headache, arising from imperfect digestion, and all ailments which are produced from an abuse of that important organ, the stomach, it will afford permanent relief

As an evidence that our statements can be fully relied upon, we refer the reader to the certificates below:

"For a number of years I was greatly afflicted with Dyspepsia, and although my stomach craved food, it would immediately reject it, should I eat anything, no matter how small the quantity. I was frequently compelled to leave the table without being able to take any nourishment. In a short time I became very much reduced in flesh, and was so weak that I was unable and unfit to attend to my business. My mind was in no better condition than my body, as I was continually oppressed with lassitude and depression of spirits. I tried all the patent medicines and prescriptions that I heard of, and some of those afforded me temporary relief, but in a short time I relapsed into my former condition.

"While suffering in this manner I heard of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and concluded to try it. I had taken it but a short time when I began to feel relief, and continuing to take it, I soon could partake of my meals without any disagreeable feeling either while at the table or afterwards, and gained flesh rapidly. It is now nearly ten years since, and I have continued free from anything like a return of the Dyspepsia—I can therefore recommend it to any one suffering in like manner.

"Respectfully yours, ANDREW J. NICHOLSON
"PITTSBURGH, March 20, 1869."

"This is to certify, that during the early part of the Summer of 1868 my wife was much troubled with Dyspepsia. She had a severe pain in her side, her appetite was variable, and she became quite sallow. After having used two bottles of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, her appetite became good, she was relieved from the severe pain in her side, and her complexion became good again, all of which I attribute to the use of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and I have recommended it to all my friends and acquaintances. All that I can do to make its wonderful properties known, you can rest assured will be done. JAMES A. SMITH.
"PITTSBURGH, PA."

If you are suffering do not hesitate to buy a bottle of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and avail yourself of its curative properties.

The Kidneys.

THE KIDNEYS.—THE KIDNEYS are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loin, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz: the anterior, the interior, and the exterior. The interior absorbs. Interior consists of tissues or veins, which serve as a deposit for the urine and convey it to the exterior. The exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called the Ureter. The ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz: The Upper the Lower, the Nervous and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability to retain; others urinate without the ability to retain. This frequently occurs in children. To cure these affections we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected, Gravel or Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware, that however slight the attack it is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers, as our health and blood are supported from these sources.

GOUT OR RHEUMATISM.—Pain occurring in the joints is indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons improved before a very large funeral assembly by Revs Koontz and Klar.

GRAVEL.—The Gravel ensues from neglect or improper treatment of the kidneys. These organs being weak the water is not expelled from the bladder but allowed to remain: it becomes feverish and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed and gravel ensues.

DROPSY is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names according to the parts affected, viz: when generally diffused over the body it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TREATMENT.—Helmbold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder Kidneys, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatism and gouty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water, scanty secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or stoppage of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys without any change in quantity, but increase of color, or dark water. It has always highly recommended by the late Dr Physick in those affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy exercise, by which the watery or calcareous depositions and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflamation are reduced, and it is taken by men, women and children. Directions for use and diet accompany,

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 25, 1867.

H T HELMBOLD, Druggist—Dear Sir—I have been a sufferer for the last award of twenty years with gravel, bladder and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and and been under treatment of the most eminent physicians experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu. I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised remedies, and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter, unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubebs and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the druggist I concluded to try it, I commenced its use about eight months ago at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was enabled to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at that time, but that my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing then it would be of greater value to you, and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did. Your buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not cease to use it without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

The Great Medical Mistake

Of former days was an utter neglect of sanitary precautions. No efficient means were adopted for the Prevention of sickness. Sewerage was unknown in cities: drainage was rarely attempted in the country, Heaps of offal were left to rot in the public streets, and domestic cleanliness, the great antidote to disease was sadly neglected. It is not so now. Wise laws, philanthropic institutions and a vigilant sanitary police, have, to a great extent, remedied the evil. Nor is this all. Preventive medication has helped materially to lessen the rates of mortality. It is not too much to say that tens of thousands escape sickness in unhealthy seasons, in consequence of having invigorated their systems in advance by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This pure and powerful tonic and alterative comprises the extracts and essences of a variety of roots and herbs renowned for their strengthening, soothing, vitalizing and purifying properties. These medicinal agents are incorporated with a spirit absolutely free from the acrid poison which defiles more or less, all the liquor of commerce, and their effect is diffused through the whole system by this active yet harmless stimulant. The result is such a condition of the system as renders it all but impervious to the exterior cause of disease, such as damp, fog, sudden alternations of temperature, &c. Strength and perfect regularity of all the functions of the body, are the best safeguards against atmospheric poison and the effects of unwholesome water, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are the best strengthening and regulating medicine at present known. For dyspepsia and biliousness they are a specific absolute.

We do not wish to inform you readers, that Dr Wonderful, or any other humbug, has discovered a remedy that cures consumption, when the lungs are half consumed; in short will cure all diseases whether of the mind, body or estate; but we have discovered, after years of study, a remedy that will relieve forever, and leave them to pursue their work, and is designed to make short work of a blissful pursuit. Its work is done quickly, but not to show. You have been disgusted with that kind of mahogany, and we do not wish you to be disgusted with it. Some Reminiscences of Benjamin Tappan U. S. Senator from Ohio.

A rusty, rasping old file was Benjamin Tappan,—usually styled, where he was known, "Old Ben Tappan," once a county judge, from which he was transferred to the Supreme Bench of Ohio, and from thence to a seat in the United States Senate, from the same state.

Numerous are the anecdotes related of him in all these capacities by his neighbors, associates, members of the bar, and fellow legislators in Congress. From among the host of good things told of him, we reduce to writing and print the following samples:

The old judge, as he was sometimes called, labored under an obliquity of vision, which far surpassed that of Ben Butler, or any similar sample we might name—in fact the defect amounted to distortion, and gave to his features, especially when excited, a fearfully sinister aspect.

On one occasion, while holding court in an interior town in Ohio, the prision or county jail which was constructed of logs, as he was passing sentence on the usual number convicted of petty offenses against the law, an inebriated individual in the customary crowd of spectators sung out:

"That's right, give it to him, old gimlet eye."

"Who is that?" sternly demanded the court,—his sinister eye indignantly flashing fire.

"It's this old hoss, Judge," exclaimed the offender against the "peace and dignity of the state."

"Mr. Sheriff," promptly responded the dignitary with the italic i "take that old horse to the stable, lock him up, and keep him without hay, oats or drink for twenty-four hours," which mandate was forthwith obeyed.

The brother of Arthur Lewis and William B. he differed essentially from these more pious members of the family, upon the subject of religion; while they were devout professors, he lived and died an open, avowed and confirmed infidel, as these characteristic incidents will clearly illustrate. In connection with several of his brothers in-law, all of whom were members of the bar, Judge Wright, Goodenow and the Colliers, he settled at an early period of the history of the state in the town of Steubenville,—a noted manufacturing place on the Ohio river. The principal house of entertainment, hotel, or tavern, as such institutions were called in those days, was kept by a Friend Quaker, known as Old Sammy J——. An extensive female academy, one of the principal institutions of this character in this state, located in the same place, was presided over by a sanctimonious, hypocritical sort of a moral Pecksniff—who kept the whole community constantly in hot water—by the citizens generally called Old Bobby H——. One night at supper the venerable Quaker landlord, addressing a friend of the writer, then a boy learning the printing business, remarked:

"There are to be some distinguished men here to-night, and if thee will take a seat in the parlor, and sit very quietly in a corner and listen, thee will learn something, and hear a great deal to thy edification, and that will benefit thee very much." Accordingly, our friend did as directed, and in a short time there gathered in a company composed of the parties already named, with a wealthy iron master from Pittsburgh, who owned considerable property in Steubenville.

Chief among the crowd, however, was old Ben Tappan. After descanting upon the various prominent topics of the day, in which politics bore a prominent part, the subject of religion was broached, and a lengthy and animated discussion arose over the system of rewards and punishments set forth in the Bible. During the entire debate the subject of this sketch—albeit not given to the discussion of such topics—had remained perfectly silent, when one of the party, taking advantage of a lull in the conversation, remarked, "Let us hear what Brother Tappan has to say on this important subject," which call met with a unanimous second from the crowd. "Well," began he, in his usual squeaking tone, "gentlemen, the Scriptures teach us that the good, the just and upright men of this earth will be rewarded hereafter according to their works, and that the wicked will be punished in a corresponding rate, but may I be damned if I wouldn't rather go to hell, with Julius Cæsar, Napoleon Bonaparte, Tom Paine, Voltaire, and all that crowd, than go to Heaven with old Bobby H——." All of which was, of course very edifying and instructive to our young friend, who was all ears to this interesting discussion.

It is well known to every one who has passed any time in Washington during a session of congress, that the Federal Capitol is, at such times, besieged by an army of genteel professional beggars, of both sexes—those of the male persuasion being generally of the black coated order.

One of this class having levied the usual tax upon a number of members of the two houses, during Senator Tarpan's term of service, a waggish party, knowing the old man's peculiar proclivities on the subject of religion, and also aware of his close fistedness in contributing to charities of any kind, gave the solicitor for the church his address, advising him to call at a certain hour in the evening, assuring him the Ohio senator was a very pious and benevolent man, and would doubtless contribute largely to the object he had in charge. Eager to enjoy the fun, the party were promptly on hand at the place designated before the appointed time. The senator, who was one of the Judiciary committee of the house, of which he was a member, was busily engaged in drawing up an important report to be presented the next day. Inviting them to take seats, he kept on at his work, and in a short time the solicitor for the church enterprise arrived, and, after being duly presented, proceeded to unfold his mission to the old reprobate, who still kept on writing—stating, among other things, that the Lords treasury was empty, and having heard a great deal of the liberality and generosity of his senatorial listener, had called to receive his donato the good work. This harangue being ended, old Ben looked up from his paper and took a good look with his cross-eye at his visitor, and with a measured nasal drawl, answered and said:

"My friend, if I mistake not, the good Book somewhere says the earth is the Lord's in the fullness thereof, and that He owns the cattle on a thousand hills. Is it not so? Being answered in the affirmative, he continued: "Well, such being case, if you say the Lord's treasury is empty, why the hell don't He sell some of His cattle?" Immediately after this speech he placed his sinister eye again in close proximity to his paper, while the solicitor, utterly confounded by this (to him) utterly unexpected reception beat a hasty retreat.

Novelty in Building.

A new and very interesting experiment is being tried at Canbury in Scotland. It is nothing less than the erection of a whole village, including school house reading room and church—all to be built entirely of concrete. The particulars are given in the Edinburgh Review, and it will be seen how easily a similar experiment could be tried in this country.

The houses, each of which is to contain two good sized apartments, have foundations of stones welded together by concrete, seven parts of which are river gravel, one of sand and one of Portland cement. Each block contains four houses, and is about sixty feet in length, and about thirty feet in breadth. After the foundations are made, and the frames to hold the concrete are once set up, the process is very simple. The frames are unbolted every morning; the work of the previous day has become firm; and eight ordinary laborers can fill up the frames after moving so that the whole block advances about eighteen inches daily. Temporary wooden frames mould the spaces for fire-places, and for the chimneys tin tubes are inserted, which are moved upwards as the walls ascend, and leave clear spaces requiring no further treatment. If care is taken in placing the first layer of concrete no deflection can occur in the superstructure. No skilled artificers are required in the construction of houses on this principle, except a solitary carpenter, whose province it is to fix the window frames and joisting, and the movable frames for the wall-cupboards—or, as the Scotch call them "presses"—fireplaces, &c. The windows are fitted in entire, and are securely fastened, simply by the firm hold of the concrete, on the frame work. A surface coating,—one third Portland cement, and two-thirds sand—is applied.

Many other materials, such as the refuse of brickyards or coal dross, may be used instead of gravel. A saving of thirty or forty per cent is expected, and it is believed that the houses are more durable as well as drier, and of more agreeable temperature than those of brick or stone.

Brain Waves---A Novel Theory.

The New York Sun says: We mentioned a few day ago, that a writer in the London Spectator had propounded a theory of "brain waves," to account for the appearance of persons at the point death to their distant friends. He claims there is a kind of brain atmosphere, which extends over the globe, and upon which the brain has the power of impressing undulations, just as a bell sets the air in motion, or an electric battery the electric fluid in a telegraph wire. These waves when they meet with a sympathetic organ, produce ideas and images more or less distinct, according to circumstances. The subject is undergoing discussion, and some facts confirmatory of the theory are advanced. One is the case of a person whose image was seen by his wife to enter his house and go up stairs some two hours before his actual arrival. On inquiry, it was found that at that moment he was mentally imagining himself as doing the precise thing which his apparition did. Another story is, perhaps, not new to many of our readers, but it is sufficiently interesting to be repeated:

Admiral Sir Thomas Williams, a straightforward and excellent man, was in command of a ship crossing the Atlantic Ocean. His course brought him within sight of the island of Ascension, at that time uninhabited, and never visited by any ship except for the purpose of collecting turtles, which abound on the coast. The island was barely descried on the horizon, and was not to be noticed at all; but as Sir Thomas looked upon it he was seized with an unaccountable desire to steer toward it. He felt how strange such a wish would appear, to his crew, and tried to disregard it, but in vain. His desire became more and more urgent and distressing, and foreseeing that it would soon be more difficult to gratify it, he told his lieutenant to prepare to 'put about ship,' and steer for Ascension. The officer ventured very respectfully to represent that changing their course would greatly delay them—that just at that moment the men were going to their dinner—that, at least, some delay might be allowed. But these arguments seemed to increase the captain's anxiety, and the ship was steered toward the uninteresting little island. All eyes and spy glasses were now fixed upon it, and soon something was perceived on shore. 'It is white—it is a flag—it must be a signal!' and when they neared the shore, it was ascertained that sixteen men were wrecked on that coast many days before, and suffering the extremity of hunger, had set up a signal, though almost without a hope of relief.

The Sun says the discussions promises to elicit more anecdotes of a similar character. Is that all? Here are new phases of psychological import and interest. Let our English cousins pursue the mystery. It may enlighten them. We have something more to impart on "The inner senses," which will appear in due time. Our investigations go to show that there are scientific explanations to these material phenomena, which now puzzle the philosophers.

The Electric Telegraph.

The following article from the Albany Argus of July, 23, 1844, will give an idea of the great discovery of the age 25 years ago:

As deep and intense as is the wonder and admiration already excited by this extraordinary power, we believe it will be still farther increased when the improvements made since the adjournment of Congress become fully known.

In establishing a line of electric telegraph by magnetic wires, at first, it was reasonably apprehended that the crossing of rivers, bays and creeks would be attended with the most serious difficulty and expense. But this difficulty is now overcome by the discovery of a new and most extraordinary agent, which is thus explained:

"The result of experiments, however, is that no wires need pass through, above, or beneath the water in crossing rivers with the telegraph. The water itself is made, by Prof Morse's arrangement, the efficient conductor of electric fluid."

Can anything be more wonderful in the progress of human discovery? From New York to Washington to use the waters of the Chesapeake, Delaware and New York Bay to transmit intelligence as fast as lightning's speed!

It is said that Prof. Morse now insists as one of the certain and inevitable results of this discovery, "that should there be constructed a line of telegraphic conductors along the shore of Long Island Sound, every town on Long Island Shore, and also on the Connecticut shore, would be in certain and constant communication with each other, without the necessity of any other connection but the water of the sound." Does not this seem almost incredible? We must confess that we doubt whether it is possible. It is more like the famed wonders of Alladdin's Lamp, than the practical realities of this utilitarian age.

Among the remarkable results of this magnetic telegraph in annihilating space, is the proposition now entertained in New York, of establishing a line between New York and Boston, to telegraph steamships as they are coming into the harbor, and this intelligence can be transmitted to New York (220 miles distant) before they get the news on Boston wharf. In that event, the New Yorkers may well say, that they do not care whether the Liverpool steamships come to their harbor or not, for by the telegraphs they can get the advantage of the Boston merchants.

It should here be stated, as a matter of fact, that the plan of using bodies of water as parts of the electric medium, did not succeed.

To Rejuvenate old Grape Vines. The editor of the Practical Farmer Says: "Having on our premises planted by former owners, probably twenty years, half a dozen old grape vines with large weatherbeaten trunks or stems, which made annually but little new wood and yielded but very few poor grapes, two seasons ago we cut off the branches, and laid the main stems down in the trenches, covering with about a foot of earth. Vigorous and healthy shoots sprang up in great abundance—the weak ones of which were broken off, and the leading ones at proper distances trained to the arbor. The new growths are now clean, healthy, and strong—sufficient to cover the large arbor the present season; we look for bushels of fruit from the new bearing wood. We see old grape vines everywhere, doing no good, and which could be made young and thrifty by this process.

This is the way to cut off the neck of a bottle: With a strong twine a yard or less in length, make one turn around the neck, rapidly move the bottle from one end of the string to the other, that the friction may heat the part; while hot, dip in cold water and the glass is cracked off as smooth and clean as if cut by a diamond. A few strokes or movements with the string are all required. A bottle may be cut in two by the same process, if strips of paper are pasted around it, to keep the string from slipping from the place desired.
